

AbstractID: 12139 Title: What should Prospective ABR Oral Board Examinees be prepared for ?

Purpose: Experience of a medical physicist at the ABR oral boards will be presented. The material covered in preparation for taking the exam will be discussed. Courses out there that help one get started quickly for a thorough preparation for oral boards will be summarized. Finally the important talent one should acquire to best present your answers to the examiners will be addressed. Suggestions and recommendations to the ABR trustees, and oral examiners on how to improve the exam will be briefly touched.