

Questions: Clinical validation of nanoparticles is multifaceted and starts with validated chemistry. True

The retained integrity of nanoparticle constructs in circulation can be demonstrated by following the parallel pharmacokinetics of the different components. True

Robust quantification of imaging and reproducibility over time will be needed for noninvasive management of nascent cancer therapy. True