

House GOP Leader To Detail Health Reform Plan

House Speaker Paul Ryan (R-WI) will use his address at the American Enterprise Institute as one opportunity to fully reveal the House GOP's health care reform plan. The health reform proposal is expected to call for broadening use of health savings accounts and health reimbursement arrangements, selling insurance policies across state lines, capping the employer tax exclusion, keeping the guaranteed-issue mandate with exceptions, setting up high-risk pools for those with pre-existing conditions, repealing Medicare's Independent Payment Advisory Board, changing age-banding, and ending the individual mandate, among other ideas.
